EDITORS | ELWAY'S

Over the past three years, Elway's has emerged as the best steak house in Denver. The service is excellent, the side dishes and desserts are heavenly (particularly the tuna tartare with guacamole, and the warm chocolate soufflé), but it's the steak that stands out. Elway's porterhouse, lightly dashed with the restaurant's homemade seasonings, is the best steak we've eaten—ever. Juicy, flavorful, delicious. And now, with a second location (in the Ritz downtown, no less), there's double the goodness. Note: The menus at each location vary. 2500 E. First Ave., 303-399-5353; 1881 Curtis St., 303-321-3107, www.elways.com
